

Take a Chance

Today, you have a chance
To fall in love with love
Taste the magic of romance
And dance its joyful dance

Love is a wonderful fate
A rendezvous with destiny
That's never too late
It comes without warning
To open heaven's gate

A ship full of passion
That comes and goes without a date
Sails against stormy winds
To give soul a loving mate

Love has a beautiful face
It smiles for strangers
Regardless of color and race
Excites the sad and comforts the lonely
And walks with pride and grace

It's a journey in dreamland
That takes you faraway places
To visit the old motherland
See China, Egypt, Spain, or Thailand
And enjoy mountain, sea and sand

Today, you have a chance
To be whatever you want to be
To languish in the shadows of life
Or live the life of love to be

A chance to be in love
Is a chance to fly so high
Be free to roam the blue sky
And let the mind be inspired
By beautiful ideas that never die

Loving is a daring dance
It looks you right in the eye
And challenges you to take a chance
It makes you forget old memories
And feel the excitement of a new life
In just a glance

So, why wait for a date
You never tasted its taste
When you have a passionate heart
That knows no bounds for loving
And recognizes no age or fate

Love is a wonderful thing
No one can ever see
It penetrates deep in the heart
To plant roots like an olive tree
Bounded by shared dreams and memories
Where sharing makes souls whole and free

June 2007